

“Prospects for Russian-Latin American Economic Cooperation in Contemporary Geopolitical Conditions”

at ST PETERSBURG STATE UNIVERSITY

A round table on “Prospects for Russian-Latin American Economic Cooperation in Contemporary Geopolitical Conditions” will take place on 2ND DECEMBER 2016 at 3^{PM} in the Auditorium of the St. Petersburg State University (21 Tavricheskaya Str.) within the framework of the XII International Conference of Young Economic Scientists entitled “Entrepreneurship and Reform in Russia.” The round table is held with the support of the European Union’s Marie Curie PRIMO (“Power and Region in a Multipolar Order”) international research project. The working language is Russian.

ROUND TABLE PARTICIPANTS:

LAZAR SOLOMONOVICH JEIFETS

Doctor of History, head of the Ibero-American Documentation Office, Professor at American Studies Department, St Petersburg State University, and representative of the Russian Academy of Sciences’ Latin American Institute in St. Petersburg;

YEVGENIY MIKHAYLOVICH ZHIKH

Head of the regional office of the Russia-Brazil Business Council in the North-West, presidium member and official representative of the National Committee for Economic Cooperation with Latin American Countries in St Petersburg, and General Director of the International Finance Alliance;

MIKHAIL ALEKSANDROVICH KULIKOV

Director of the Marketing Department at Power Machines;

YULIYA SERGEYEVNA KUZNETSOVA

Marketing Department Senior Manager, Power Machines.

Moderator: Alison Lantukh – doctoral student at the Pontifical Catholic University of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

Coordinator: Alexandra Gennadevna Koval PhD – associate professor at St Petersburg State University’s World Economy Department.

QUESTIONS FOR DISCUSSION:

- To what extent do today’s geopolitics influence the development of economic ties between Russia and Latin American countries?
- How is Russia’s foreign economic strategy on Latin America shaped?
- What are the barriers to and prospects for the development of cooperation between Russia and Latin America?
- What are the opportunities for Russian business in the Latin American region, and what is necessary for the intensification of Russian-Latin American relations?

